

Social

Vocational

Independence

Supporting young adults with autism and learning differences on their journey to independence.

Every day we work to transform the lives of individuals and families affected by autism spectrum disorder and learning differences. Our programs are focused on delivering curriculum and supports in the areas of independent living skills, social and emotional learning, career skills and employment, and healthy living. We believe our participants can fulfill their potential and live an independent, vibrant life.

We offer four distinct programs starting with our two-week Summer Program, leading to our three-year College and Careers Programs, and finally, with our life-long Community Program. Each of our programs offers unique support to participants.

The three-year program offers participants the opportunity to build foundational independent living skills while living on-campus, and building relationships through activities and classes. Experiential learning is paramount for students to gain real-world knowledge.

We offer four certificate training programs: Culinary, Hospitality, Health Services, and Retail. Participants attend classes and practicum to develop industry-specific technical skills and the professionalism needed for obtaining employment.

We believe in continuous, life-long support in ways that matter. Program specialists offer support to participants in sustaining their independence, jobs, and social activities to maintain a fulfilled and vibrant life.